Joining Words

Sara Helps Mum

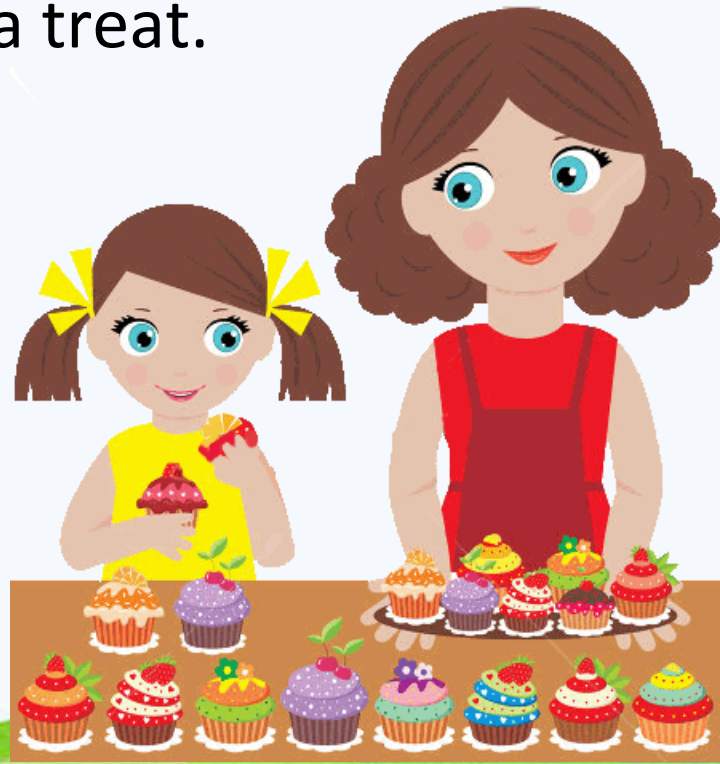
Read how Sara helps her mum.

- Sara helps her mother and learns to make things.
- She bakes muffins and calls her friends for a treat.
- She makes sandwiches and takes them to school.

REMEMBER

‘And’ is used to join sentences that have similar ideas or meanings.

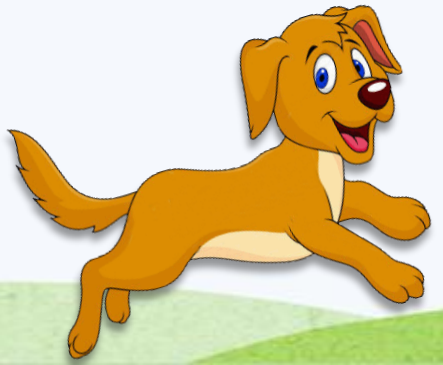
Example: She bakes muffins and calls her friends for a treat.



Walking to School

Read these sentences about Charu.

- While walking to school, Charu saw a pup.
- The pup looked healthy, but it was crying.
- Charu wanted to lift the pup but was scared.
- She went home for help, but Mother was not there.



REMEMBER

‘But’ is used to join sentences that have an opposite or different meanings.

Example: The pup looked healthy, but it was crying.

In the example sentence, healthy and crying are the opposite ideas.

Your Turn

Choose the correct joining words.

1. I am good at English and/but I can’t spell words very well.
2. I read stories and/but tell them to my little brother.
3. I like fairy tales and/but comics.
4. I like Goldilocks and/but I don’t like Cinderella.

