

Has, Have, Had

Rewrite the following sentences using has, have or had correctly.

1. My little sister have always liked to annoy me.

---

2. Jeet have taught us cycling.

---

3. I has been speaking on the stage for half an hour.

---

4. Ram and Sita has been renowned mythological characters for ages.

---

5. Opening the curtains have allowed the raindrops to come in the room.

---

6. The school bus have been early for a few days in a row now.

---

7. They has a good plan to bag the prize.

---

8. She have typhoid last week.

---

9. He have been working on his job applications.

---

10. I has thought of this idea while I was on vacation.

---

Answers

1. My little sister has always liked to annoy me.
2. Jeet has/had taught us cycling.
3. I have been speaking on the stage for half an hour.
4. Ram and Sita have been renowned mythological characters for ages.
5. Opening the curtains has allowed the raindrops to come in the room.
6. The school bus has been early for a few days in a row now.
7. They have a good plan to bag the prize.
8. She had typhoid last week.
9. He has/had been working on his job applications.
10. I had thought of this idea while I was on vacation.